At the close of our last week's review of the official week of the cotton market, New York quoted middling at 11 1-16c, fell to 10 13-16c; New Orleans quoted 10%c, fell to 10%c; Liverpool 6%d, fell to 6%d; Memphis quoted 10%c, fell to 10%c. Gold advanced from 102 to 102%. This statement shows a decline all along the line, but when the influences bearing upon the trade are taken into account it will be seen that cotton has shown itself wonderfully strong. England, notwithstanding the Turk's refusal of a firman, ascended the Dardanelles to the Sea of Marmora, although Russia declared that if that was done she would enter Constantinople. Actual war appeared imminent, yet, in the face of all, cotton lost but a slight fraction, while sales fell off very little from those of most weeks for a month past. The silver bill was under hot discussion all the week, and was ultimately adopted by the senateanother disturbing influence. There has been a scarcity of good cotton in our market; other kinds plentiful. The last weekly review of the cotton market in the New York described the market as feverish, operators moving great caution. Heavier war news and lighter arrivals were continually offseting each other; there will be enough to equal last year's crop, if not to go beyond it. The Bulletin adds: "Should peace prevail, an upward turn of values is of course to be expected, but a great many of our leading dealers still adhere to the belief that the improvenent will only be temporary, especially should flurry carry a large advance, on the theory that the consuming countries are unable to handle any but cheap cotton, and then only on the hand-to-mouth method." Watts's averpool circular, of January 25th, reported ression and disquiet. Besides inimical tences from apprehensions of further war, ines in silver and in Indian exchange had o uneasiness about a sufficient supply of cot-en; large receipts at American ports aroused disposition to sell, and 4,500,000 bales was red a mederate estimate of the crop. from Egypt were less, there was a rease from Brazil, and an in-

The New Orleans Picayune said on Saturday: "The money market is dull and sluggish, and the bulk of the loans are in State and city securities. There seems to be little investment demand, and the scarcity of commercial paper is marked both in bank and on the street. In fact the movement in State consols and city premium bonds affords the chief and almost only employment for the funds lying idle in the banks." The Chlcago Tribune, of Saturday, said: "Counter transactions, as well as other forms of banking business, are at a low figure. The country demand for currency and banks." The Chicago Tribune, of Saturday, said: "Counter transactions, as well as other forms of banking business, are at a low figure. The country demand for currency and discounts has subsided, and the city applications for bank funds are not enough to keep up the discount lines of the banks. Deposits are higher. Renewals are applied for more or less on account of the failure of collections, and the smallness of sales. The mercantile trade of the city is inactive, and most kinds of business are experiencing only the most moderate kind of prosperity. All who have ventured upon 'short' sales of late were pretty well inclined to cover, and at times made quite a little rush, while there were a few also who had faith enough to purchase on expectation that the turning point of the market had been reached and passed."

The United States mail packet Dyersburg, Captain C. J. Berry, advertises to leave Dyersburg every Tuesday and Saturday evenings, at five o'clock, making close connections at Hale's Point with Anchor-line and Memphis and Cincinnati packets, returning Wednesday and Sunday evenings for Dyersburg and Key Corner, and other points on Obion and Forked Deer rivers.

Captain William Elhott, of the City of Augusta, arrived yesterday afternoon from New Orleans, and from him we learn that several men who had been shipped on the City of Augusta for the trip by Mr. Joe Solari, mate of that vessel, attacked him in a malicious manner on the forecastle of the boat Saturday afternoon, while lying at the wharf at New Orleans, stabbing him several times in the region of the lungs, wounding him it is believed fatally. Captain Elliott had him conveyed to the charity hospital. Mr. Solari has a family residing in this city, and we hope he may soon be restored to his family fully recovered from his wounds.
